

[NYAPRS Enews] In My Mind MH Conference For LGBTQ+ Peoples Of Color Seeks Proposals

Nyaprs

on behalf of

Harvey Rosenthal

Mon 4/29/2019 1:53 PM

To: nyaprs@kilakwa.net <nyaprs@kilakwa.net>

This year, the In My Mind Conference celebrates its fifth anniversary with the theme, "Overcoming Barriers; Creating Opportunities". Attached is more about In My Mind.

As a part of the celebrations, and recognizing the value of personal/experiential narratives to one's healing - one is not alone in their experiences, that we are launching our call for abstract submissions, deadline May 31. Submissions conform to four tracks: Research, Education, Advocacy, and Community (ideal for personal/experiential narratives).

Demonstrating their commitment to ensuring LGBTQ+ peoples of color mental health is a priority, we are honored to announce that Callen-Lorde Community Health Center (authorized by the State of New York) will offer Continuing Education (CE) credits for LCSWs and LMSWs attending CE eligible presentations. LCSWs and LMSWs requiring CEs are required to complete the entire 75-minute of the particular presentation.

Additionally, to highlight storytelling - sharing our experiences, that the Conference also launches a call for essay submissions. Essays will be evaluated and selected by a team of independent reviewers whose two top choices will be published in the Conference Journal and their respective authors will be invited to read excerpts from their work before the entire conference.

Abstract and Essay Submissions at this link: <http://bit.ly/IMM-19>

Please assist with sharing about the call for abstract and essay submissions for this conference far and wide - citywide, regionally, nationally, and internationally.

Antoine B. Craigwell
President & CEO

DBGM - Raising Awareness, Changing & Saving Lives

Visit us: Twitter | Facebook | DBGM | Yana-TheFilm