Jasmine Grace – Speaker, Author, Founder & Director of Bags of Hope Ministries

As a survivor of sex trafficking and drug addiction, Jasmine is an effective keynote speaker, panel participant and facilitator for trainings, workshops and groups. She has spoken on panels at the U.S Commission on Civil Rights in New Hampshire and at two side panels for members of the United Nations in New York. In addition, Jasmine consults with healthcare professionals, law enforcement personnel, educators and nonprofit organizations. She advises on issues such as safe homes, program growth, curriculum development, survivor support and peer mentorship. Lastly, she is a member of the NSN (National Survivor Network), Founder and Director of Bags of Hope Ministries, and Author of The Diary of Jasmine Grace. Trafficked. Recovered. Redeemed.

A FREE presentation to educate, inform and raise awareness on sex trafficking

This program is brought to you by the New York State Office of Children and Family Services in partnership with the Schoharie County Youth Bureau, the Child At Risk Response Team (CARRT) of Schoharie County and in cooperation with the SUNY Cobleskill Wellness Center
