What if...

New York was the Center of Healing for the World?

What would be different from the way things are now?

Introduction

So much has happened in the world since the last RAC meeting.

Most of us can identify with a need to recovery and heal during these times that have challenged us at the personal, community, state, national and global level.

How should our “systems of care” respond to the current events?

What if... New York was the Center of Healing for the World?

Questions for Small Groups (~10 min./each)

- In a word or short phrase, how would you define “healing”?
- In your own life, where/ how does healing happen?
- What helps and what gets in the way of healing?
- What should systems of care do less or stop doing?
- What should systems of care do more or start doing?

(Magic Wand – if time permits)

What would it look like if New York was the Center of Healing for the World?
